Bob Stotler

A designer of fine bows since 1936, he left Howard Hill Archery, where he was head bow maker for 27 years, to concentrate on designing and crafting bows for Stotler Archery, the company he started with his brothers Jim and Wayne.

Today's Stotler bows are designed for the hunting archer, but just as much at home in the had of the target and tournament archer, our Stotler Longbows and Recurves are designed for comfort, speed, endurance, and above all, accuracy. Special care goes into the production of each and every one of our one-of-a-kind, handcrafted bows.

Carrying on the tradition.

Stotler Archery is now owned and oprated by Jeff Scherer and Terry Moore.

We are located in Union County in beautiful Southern Illinois
